Dear Mr. Wirtz:

Thank you for sending the interesting histories of the Department of Labor, tracing its progress since 1913. These publications will be included in our library where I am sure they will be read with great interest by certain of our specialists.

May I offer congratulations on this 50th anniversary of the Department, and my personal regards for your own contribution to its work.

Sincerely,

MAR 19 1963

Dear Mr. McCone:

I am enclosing two new publications we are issuing in connection with the 50th Anniversary of the Department of Labor.

These sister histories trace, one in a documentary and the other in a less formal, more illustrative manner, the progress of the Department of Labor from 1913 to 1963. You will note that THE ANVIL AND THE PLOW, the more extensive history, includes a series of appendixes giving data on events, legislation, appropriations and personnel which may be of use to you. CHALLENGE AND CHANGE is, I feel, an easily read brief history which is accompanied by a series of charts contrasting human welfare around 1913 with that of today.

We hope you will share our Anniversary with us through THE ANVIL AND THE PLOW and CHALLENGE AND CHANGE.

Best personal regards.

Sincerely,

W. Willard Wirtz
Secretary of Labor
